 - The reimbursement to the taxpayer of the reasonable costs of a. forming, syndicating, managing, and operating the business.
 - b. An increase in the taxpayer's taxes, penalties, or interest to the extent the increase is caused by the allocation to the taxpayer of income of the business.

The repayment of principal on subordinated debt is a purchase of the debt except to the extent the repayment is repayment of principal due on the subordinated debt at its maturity pursuant to the terms of the subordinated debt instrument. If a transaction is of the Code as a distribution in redemption of the treated under section 304(a) equity securities of a business, that business has, for the purpose of this subsection, purchased an amount of its equity securities equal to the amount treated as such a distribution under section 304(a) of the Code.

- Conversion of Other Securities. Any equity security or subordinated debt instrument issued by a business and acquired by the taxpayer solely through the conversion of another equity security or subordinated debt instrument that was issued by the business and was a qualified security in the hands of the taxpaver is considered, for the purpose of this section, a qualified security in the hands of the taxpayer and acquired by the taxpayer on the date the taxpayer acquired the converted qualified security.
- Transfers. In the case of a transfer by gift, by death, or from a pass-through entity to one of its owners, the transferee is considered, for the purpose of this section, to have acquired the qualified security in the same manner as the transferor and to have held it during any continuous period immediately preceding the transfer during which it was held or treated as held by the transferor.

In the case of a transaction described in section 351 of the Code or a reorganization described in section 368 of the Code, if qualified securities are exchanged for other securities, the other securities are considered, for the purpose of this section, qualified securities acquired on the date the exchanged qualified securities were acquired. In the case of a transaction described in section 351 of the Code, the newly acquired securities are considered qualified securities, however, only if, immediately after the transaction, the corporation issuing the securities owns, directly or indirectly, securities representing control, within the meaning of section 368(c) of the Code, of the corporation whose securities were exchanged.

 - Qualified securities exchanged for property. Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (3) of this subsection, a taxpayer who transfers property to a business in exchange for qualified securities in the business shall, for purposes of determining North Carolina taxable income, recognize gain equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the property exceeded the taxpayer's basis in the property on the date the property was exchanged for the qualified securities. This gain shall be recognized for the years for which the taxpayer claims an exclusion of gain under this Division with respect to the disposition of qualified securities received in exchange for the property.
 - Contributions to capital. Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (3) of this subsection, if the adjusted basis of a qualified security is adjusted due to a contribution to capital after the date the qualified security was issued originally, for purposes of determining North Carolina taxable income, the taxpayer shall recognize gain equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the contributed property exceeded the taxpayer's basis in the property on the date the property was contributed. This gain shall be recognized for the years for which the taxpayer claims an exclusion of gain under this Division with respect to the disposition of the qualified securities.
 - Disposition of contributed property. If a qualified North Carolina business disposes of property contributed to it, the disposition occurs before the taxpayer who contributed the property claims an exclusion of gain pursuant to this Division with respect to qualified securities affected by the contribution, and the taxpayer recognizes gain from the disposition, then for purposes of subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, the taxpayer's basis in the contributed property is increased by any gain the taxpayer recognized from the disposition.

Short Positions. – For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer has an 1 (b) offsetting short position with respect to qualified securities if one of the following 2 3 conditions is satisfied: 4 The taxpayer or a related person has made a short sale of (1) 5 substantially identical property. 6 (2) The taxpaver or a related person has acquired an option to sell 7 substantially identical property at a fixed price. 8 The taxpayer has entered into any other transaction that the (3) 9 Secretary has identified in guidelines adopted under this section as 10 one that substantially reduces the risk of loss from holding the qualified securities. 11 12 If a taxpaver has an offsetting short position with respect to any qualified securities, there shall be no exclusion of gain under this Division from the sale or exchange of the 13 14 qualified securities unless the taxpayer established the short position on or after January 1, 2000, and elects to recognize gain as if the qualified securities were sold at fair market 15 value on the date the taxpayer first established the short position. 16 17 Guidelines. – The Secretary shall adopt guidelines identifying transactions that substantially reduce the risk of loss from holding qualifying securities for the purpose of 18 subsection (b) of this section. In addition, the Secretary shall adopt guidelines identifying 19 activities and situations designed to avoid the purpose of this Division through split-ups. 20 shell corporations, partnerships, or otherwise. There shall be no exclusion of gain 21 otherwise allowable under this Division to the extent a taxpayer has engaged in an 22 23 activity or created a situation identified by the Secretary in guidelines as one that is 24 designed to avoid the purpose of this Division." G.S. 105-163.010 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read: 25 Qualified North Carolina business. – A North Carolina Enterprise 26 Corporation, a qualified grantee business registered under this 27 Division, or a qualified business venture registered under this 28 Division." 29 30 Sec. 11.
