*This fiscal analysis is independent of the impact of other criminal penalty bills being considered by the General Assembly, which could also increase the projected prison population and thus the availability of prison beds in future years. The Fiscal Research Division is tracking the cumulative effect of all criminal penalty bills on the prison system as well as the Judicial Department.

BILL SUMMARY: SB 867 creates the offense of arson or other unlawful burnings that result in serious injury to a firefighter, punishable by a Class D felony. Under current law, all of the arson and other burning offenses under Article 15 are punishable as Class H, G, F, E, or D felonies. The only Class D offense under current Article 15 is 1st degree arson.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

General

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares prison population projections for each criminal penalty bill. The Commission assumes for each bill that increasing criminal penalties does not have a deterrent or incapacitative effect on crime. Therefore, the Fiscal Research Division (FRD) does not assume savings due to deterrent effects for this bill or other criminal penalty bills.

Department of Correction

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares inmate population projections annually. The projections used for incarceration fiscal notes and fiscal memos are based on January 2003 projections. These projections are based on historical information on incarceration and release rates under Structured Sentencing, crime rate forecasts by a technical advisory board, probation and revocation rates, and the decline (parole and maxouts) of the stock prison population sentenced under previous sentencing acts. Based on the most recent population projections and estimated available prison bed capacity, there are no surplus prison beds available for the five year Fiscal Note horizon and beyond. The number of beds needed will always be equal to the projected number of inmates due to a bill.

Judicial Branch

For most criminal penalty bills, the Administrative Office of the Courts provides Fiscal Research with an analysis of the fiscal impact of the specific bill. For these bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to an expected increase in trials and a corresponding increase in the hours of work for judges, clerks and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

Because SB 867 creates a new offense, the AOC has no data from which to estimate the number of charges that may arise as a result of this bill. However, data are available regarding the number of arson charges and other burning offenses as the AOC has offense codes for thirteen of the arson and other burning offenses under Article 15. AOC data for calendar year 2002 reveal that 756 defendants were charged with offenses under Article 15 (106 with 1st degree arson and 650 with other arson offenses). Data are not available on the number of defendants charged with these offenses who could be charged with the Class D felony offense involving serious injury to a firefighter under the bill.

Because the bill creates a Class D felony, the AOC anticipates that the defense would be vigorous and the litigation more time consuming. Trials and pleas would demand more court time and preparation time due to the stiffer penalties under the bill.

SOURCES OF DATA: Department of Correction; Judicial Branch; North Carolina Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: It is unclear whether the intent of the bill is that persons be charged with the offense under the bill in addition to other arson and burning offenses under Article 15.
