GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA SESSION 2009

Η

HOUSE BILL 1058* Committee Substitute Favorable 5/12/09

	Short Title:	Increase Statutory Homestead Exemption.	(Public)
	Sponsors: Referred to:
		April 6, 2009
1		A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
2	AN ACT TO	INCREASE THE STATUTORY HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION	N.
3		Assembly of North Carolina enacts:
4		ECTION 1. G.S. 1C-1601(a) reads as rewritten:
5	"(a) Ex	kempt property Each individual, resident of this State, who is	a debtor is entitled
6	to retain free	of the enforcement of the claims of creditors:
7	(1)	) The debtor's aggregate interest, not to exceed eight	een thousand five
8		hundred dollars ($18,500)one hundred fifty thousand do
9		value, in real property or personal property that the debto
10		the debtor uses as a residence, residence or in a coop
11		property that the debtor or a dependent of the debtor use
12		in a burial plot for the debtor or a dependent of the d
13		unmarried debtor who is 65 years of age or older is en
14		aggregate interest in the property not to exceed thirty-sev
15		($37,000) in value so long as the property was previous debter as a tenant by the artifaction on a significant ten
16 17		debtor as a tenant by the entireties or as a joint ten
17	(2)	<ul> <li>survivorship and the former co-owner of the property is do</li> <li>The debtor's aggregate interest in any property, not to ex</li> </ul>
19	(2)	dollars ($5,000) in value of any unused exemption am
20		debtor is entitled under subdivision (1) of this subsection.
20	(3)
22		($3,500) in value, in one motor vehicle.	ve nunureu uonurs
23	(4)		and dollars ($5,000)
24		in value for the debtor plus one thousand dollars ($1,000)
25		of the debtor, not to exceed four thousand dollars	($4,000) total for
26		dependents, in household furnishings, household goods	s, wearing apparel,
27		appliances, books, animals, crops, or musical instrume	ents, that are held
28		primarily for the personal, family, or household use of	of the debtor or a
29		dependent of the debtor.
30	(5)
31		in value, in any implements, professional books, or tools	of the trade of the
32		debtor or the trade of a dependent of the debtor.
33	(6)	•	the Constitution of
34 25		North Carolina.	a domandant of the
35 36	(7)		a dependent of the
36		debtor.

2

1(8)Compensation for personal injury, including compensation from prindisability policies or annuities, or compensation for the death of a per upon whom the debtor was dependent for support, but such compensatio not exempt from claims for funeral, legal, medical, dental, hospital, health care charges related to the accident or injury giving rise to compensation.7(9)Individual retirement plans as defined in the Internal Revenue Code and plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement plan under for Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement accounts and B retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inter Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings p account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
3upon whom the debtor was dependent for support, but such compensation4not exempt from claims for funeral, legal, medical, dental, hospital,5health care charges related to the accident or injury giving rise to6compensation.7(9)Individual retirement plans as defined in the Internal Revenue Code and8plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under9Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and F10retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of11Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described12section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established13part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inter15Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plac17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan20affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contributio21antually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states23governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which </td
4not exempt from claims for funeral, legal, medical, dental, hospital, health care charges related to the accident or injury giving rise to compensation.7(9)Individual retirement plans as defined in the Internal Revenue Code and plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement plan under retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inter dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and flairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
<ul> <li>health care charges related to the accident or injury giving rise to compensation.</li> <li>(9) Individual retirement plans as defined in the Internal Revenue Code and plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and F retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.</li> <li>(10) Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Internat Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.</li> <li>(11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.</li> </ul> 6compensation.7(9)Individual retirement plans as defined in the Internal Revenue Code and plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and F9Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and e retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inter to a could be exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings p account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contributio and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
7(9)Individual retirement plans as defined in the Internal Revenue Code and plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and B9Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and B retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inte Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings pla account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contributio and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
8plan treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under9Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and R10retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of11Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described12section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established13part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inte15Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan19affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contributio20and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and21actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states23governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which25benefit plan is established.
9Internal Revenue Code, including individual retirement accounts and R10retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of11Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described12section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established13part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)15Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Internal16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan19affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contributio20and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and21actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states23governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which25benefit plan is established. retirement accounts as described in section 408(a) and section 408A of Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code. (10) Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. (11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
11Internal Revenue Code, individual retirement annuities as described12section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established13part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inte15Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan19affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution20and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and21actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states23governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which25benefit plan is established. section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, and accounts established part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code. (10) Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inte Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings p account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. (11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
13part of a trust described in section 408(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Internal15Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings plan account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finant19affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution20and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and21actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)23Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which25benefit plan is established.
14(10)Funds in a college savings plan qualified under section 529 of the Inte15Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings p17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan19affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution20and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and21actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)23governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which25benefit plan is established.
Revenue Code, not to exceed a cumulative limit of twenty-five thous dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings p account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. (11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
16dollars ($25,000), but excluding any funds placed in a college savings p17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of18contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan19affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution20and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and21actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.22(11)23governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits24exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which25benefit plan is established.
17account within the preceding 12 months (except to the extent any of contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses.12(11)13Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
contributions were made in the ordinary course of the debtor's finan affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. (11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
affairs and were consistent with the debtor's past pattern of contribution and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. (11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
and only to the extent that the funds are for a child of the debtor and actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. (11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
actually be used for the child's college or university expenses. Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
<ul> <li>(11) Retirement benefits under the retirement plans of other states</li> <li>governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits</li> <li>exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which</li> <li>benefit plan is established.</li> </ul>
23 governmental units of other states, to the extent that these benefits 24 exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which 25 benefit plan is established.
exempt under the laws of the state or governmental unit under which benefit plan is established.
25 benefit plan is established.
L
26 (12) Alimony, support, separate maintenance, and child support payments funds that have been received or to which the debtor is entitled, to the ex the payments or funds are reasonably necessary for the support of the de or any dependent of the debtor.
30 (13) The debtor's aggregate interest, not to exceed eighteen thousand hundred dollars ($18,500) in value, in a burial plot for the debtor of 32 dependent of the debtor. "
33 SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.