A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT TO PREVENT THE ABUSIVE USE OF PATENTS.
The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:
SECTION 1. Chapter 75 of the General Statutes is amended by addir	ng a new Article to read:
"Article 8.
"Abusive Patent Assertions.
" § 75-136. Title.
This Article shall be known and may be cited as the "Abusive Patent Assertions Ac	:t."
" § 75-137. Purpose.
(a) The General Assembly finds the following:
(1) North Carolina is home to a growing high-technology, knowled economy. With its top-tier research universities and active te sector, North Carolina is poised to continue its growth. To continue
North Carolina must attract new, small, or mid-sized technology co	-
Doing so will help provide jobs for North Carolina's residents a North Carolina's economy. North Carolina also is home to com- retail, manufacturing, and other industries, many of whom are cust technology companies. Those other businesses are more likely to s not inhibited by abusive and bad-faith demands and litigation.	uccccu 11
(2) Patents encourage research, development, and innovation. Paten	t holders have legitimate rights to enforce their patents.	t Holders
(3) The General Assembly does not wish to interfere with good-fai	th natent litigation or the good-faith enforcement of patents. The General A	- also recognizes that North Carolina is preempted from passing any conflicts with federal patent law.	10011 011000
Patent litigation can be technical, complex, and expensive. The ex	spense of patent litigation, which may cost millions of dollars, can be a si burden on small- and medium-sized companies. North Carolina v	wishes to help its businesses avoid these costs by encouraging the most	efficient resolution of patent infringement claims without conflicting wit	h federal law.
(5) In order for North Carolina companies to be able to respond pron efficiently to patent infringement assertions against them, it is necessitive	•
they receive specific information regarding how their product, se	ervice, or

a.

An attorney or law firm providing legal representation in the civil action described in sub-subdivision b. of subdivision (2) of this section if the sole basis for the financial interest of the attorney or law firm in the patent or patents at issue arises from the attorney or law firm's receipt of compensation reasonably related to the provision of the legal representation.

b. A person whose sole financial interest in the patent or patents at issue is ownership of an equity interest in the party alleging infringement, unless such person also has the right or ability to influence, direct, or control the civil action.

"§ 75-139. Abusive Patent Assertions.

- (a) It is unlawful for a person to make a bad-faith assertion of patent infringement. A court may consider the following factors as evidence that a person has made a bad-faith assertion of patent infringement:
 - (1) The demand does not contain all of the following information:
 - a. The patent application number or patent number.
 - b. The name and address of the patent owner or owners and assignee or assignees, if any.
 - c. Factual allegations concerning the specific areas in which the target's products, services, and technology infringe the patent or are covered by specific, identified claims in the patent.
 - d. An explanation of why the person making the assertion has standing, if the United States Patent and Trademark Office's assignment system does not identify the person asserting the patent as the owner.
 - Prior to sending the demand, the person failed to conduct an analysis comparing the claims in the patent to the target's products, services, and technology, or the analysis was done but does not identify specific areas in which the products, services, and technology are covered by the claims in the patent.
 - The demand lacks the information described in subdivision (1) of this subsection, the target requests the information, and the person fails to provide the information within a reasonable period of time.
 - (4) The person demands payment of a license fee or response within an unreasonably short period of time.
 - (5) The person offers to license the patent for an amount that is not based on a reasonable estimate of the value of the license, or the person offers to license the patent for an amount that is based on the cost of defending a potential or actual lawsuit.
 - The claim or assertion of patent infringement is meritless, and the person knew or should have known that the claim or assertion is meritless; or the claim or assertion relies on an interpretation of the patent that was disclaimed during prosecution, and the person making the claim or assertion knows or should have known about the disclaimer, or would have known about the disclaimer if the person reviewed the patent's prosecution history.
 - (7) The claim or assertion of patent infringement is deceptive.
 - (8) The person or its subsidiaries or affiliates have previously or concurrently filed or threatened to file one or more lawsuits based on the same or similar claim of patent infringement and (i) those threats or lawsuits lacked the information described in subdivision (1) of this subsection, or (ii) the person attempted to enforce the claim of patent infringement in litigation and a court found the claim to be meritless.

- 1 (9) The person making the claim or assertion sent the same demand or 2 substantially the same demand to multiple recipients and made assertions 3 against a wide variety of products and systems without reflecting those 4 differences in a reasonable manner in the demands. 5 The person making the claim or assertion is aware of, but does not disclose, (10)6 any final, nonfinal, or preliminary postgrant finding of invalidity or 7 unpatentability involving the patent. 8 The person making the claim or assertion seeks an injunction when that is (11) 9 objectively unreasonable under the law. 10
 - Any other factor the court finds relevant. (12)
 - A court may consider the following factors as evidence that a person has not made a (b) bad-faith assertion of patent infringement:
 - The demand contains the information described in subdivision (a)(1) of this (1)
 - (2) Where the demand lacks the information described in subdivision (a)(1) of this section and the target requests the information, the person provides the information within a reasonable period of time.
 - The person engages in a good-faith effort to establish that the target has (3) infringed the patent and to negotiate an appropriate remedy.
 - (4) The person makes a substantial investment in the use of the patent or in the production or sale of a product or item that the person reasonably believes is covered by the patent. "Use of the patent" in the preceding sentence means actual practice of the patent and does not include licensing without actual practice.
 - The person is either (i) the inventor or joint inventor of the patent or, in the (5) case of a patent filed by and awarded to an assignee of the original inventor or joint inventor, is the original assignee or (ii) an institution of higher education or a technology transfer organization owned or affiliated with an institution of higher education.
 - (6) The person has demonstrated good-faith business practices in previous efforts to enforce the patent, or a substantially similar patent, or has successfully enforced the patent, or a substantially similar patent, through litigation.
 - Any other factor the court finds relevant. (7)
 - Nothing in this Article shall be construed to apply a demand letter or assertion of patent infringement arising under 35 U.S.C. 271(e)(2) or 42 U.S.C. 262.
 - Subject to the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section and provided the activities are not carried out in bad faith, nothing in this section shall be construed to deem it an unlawful practice, in and of itself, for any person who owns or has the right to license or enforce a patent to do any of the following:
 - Advise others of that ownership or right of license or enforcement. (1)
 - (2) Communicate to others that the patent is available for license or sale.
 - (3) Notify another of the infringement of the patent.
 - Seek compensation on account of past or present infringement or for a (4) license to the patent.

"§ 75-140. Bond.

Upon motion by a target and a finding by the court that a target has established a reasonable likelihood that a person has made a bad-faith assertion of patent infringement in violation of this Chapter, the court shall require the person to post a bond in an amount equal to a good-faith estimate of the target's fees and costs to litigate the claim and amounts reasonably likely to be recovered under G.S. 75-141, conditioned upon payment of any amounts finally

- determined to be due to the target. A hearing shall be held if either party so requests. A bond ordered pursuant to this section shall not exceed five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000).
 - (b) The court may waive the bond requirement of subsection (a) of this section if it finds the person has available assets equal to the amount of the proposed bond or for other good cause shown.
 - (c) If the person asserting patent infringement cannot pay any fees or costs ordered by any court in a matter related to the same asserted patent infringement, those fees or costs shall be paid out of the bond posted under subsection (a) of this section, without affecting the obligation of the person asserting patent infringement to pay any remainder of those fees or costs not paid out of the bond.

"§ 75-141. Enforcement; Remedies; Damages.

- (a) The Attorney General shall have the same authority under this Chapter to make rules, conduct civil investigations, bring civil actions, and enter into assurances of discontinuance as provided under this Chapter. In an action brought by the Attorney General pursuant to this section, the court may award or impose any relief available under this Chapter.
- (b) A target or a person aggrieved by a violation of this Chapter or by a violation of rules adopted under this Chapter may bring an action in Superior Court against a person that has made a bad-faith assertion of patent infringement. A court may award to a plaintiff who prevails in an action brought pursuant to this subsection one or more of the following remedies:
 - (1) Equitable relief.
 - (2) Damages.
 - (3) Costs and fees, including reasonable attorneys' fees.
 - (4) Exemplary damages in an amount equal to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or three times the total of damages, costs, and fees, whichever is greater.
- (c) Joinder of Interested Parties. In an action arising under subsection (a) or (b) of this section, the court shall grant a motion by the Attorney General or a target to join an interested party if the moving party shows that the party alleging infringement has no substantial interest in the patent or patents at issue other than making demands or asserting such patent claim in litigation.
- (d) In an action arising under subsection (a) or (b) of this section, any person who has delivered or sent a demand to a target in North Carolina has purposefully availed himself of the privileges of conducting business in this State and shall be subject to suit in this State, whether or not the person is transacting or has transacted any other business in this State. This Chapter shall be construed as a special jurisdiction statute in accordance with G.S. 1-75.4(2).
- (e) If a party is unable to pay any amount awarded by the court pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) of this section, the court may find any interested party joined pursuant to subsection (c) of this section jointly and severally liable for the abusive patent assertion and make the award recoverable against any or all of the joined interested parties.
- (f) This Chapter shall not be construed to limit rights and remedies available to the State of North Carolina or to any person under any other law and shall not alter or restrict the Attorney General's authority under this Chapter with regard to conduct involving assertions of patent infringement."

SECTION 2. G.S. 14-118.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 14-118.4. Extortion.

- (a) Any person who threatens or communicates a threat or threats to another with the intention thereby wrongfully to obtain anything of value or any acquittance, advantage, or immunity is guilty of extortion and such person shall be punished as a Class F felon.
- (b) A person is guilty of extortion under this section when the person intentionally obtains or attempts to obtain property of another by making or threatening to make an abusive patent assertion under G.S. 75-139 against the other person. For purposes of this subsection, a "person" means an individual, agent, company, firm, or corporation."
