The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

1 2

SECTION 1. G.S. 50-13.2(b1) reads as rewritten:

"(b1) An order for custody of a minor child may provide visitation rights for any grandparent of the child as the court, in its discretion, deems appropriate. As used in this subsection, "grandparent" includes a biological grandparent of a child adopted by a stepparent or a relative of the child where a substantial relationship exists between the grandparent and the child. Under no circumstances shall a biological grandparent of a child adopted by adoptive parents, neither of whom is related to the child and where parental rights of both biological parents have been terminated, be entitled to visitation rights."

SECTION 2. G.S. 50-13.2A reads as rewritten:

"§ 50-13.2A. Action for visitation of an adopted grandchild.by grandparent.

- (a) A biological grandparent may institute an action or proceeding for visitation rights with a child adopted by a stepparent or a relative of the child where a substantial relationship exists between the grandparent and the child-child under the provisions of this section. Under no circumstances shall a biological grandparent of a child adopted by adoptive parents, neither of whom is related to the child and where parental rights of both biological parents have been terminated, be entitled to visitation rights.
- (b) The court shall determine grandparent visitation rights on a case-by-case basis. In awarding grandparent visitation, the court may determine the time, place, and circumstances of visitation. For purposes of this section, visitation shall not include custody. A court may award visitation rights only if it determines that visitation is in the best interest of the child. An order awarding visitation rights shall contain findings of fact which that support the determination by the judge of the best interest of the child. In determining the best interest of the child, the court shall consider each the following:
 - (1) Whether there is a preexisting relationship between the grandparent and the child, or the willingness of the grandparent to encourage a close relationship between the child and the parent.
 - (2) The willingness of the child to develop a relationship with the grandparent, if the court determines that the child is of sufficient maturity to make that decision.
 - (3) The reasonableness or lack of reasonableness of the custodial parent in allowing, restricting, or denying visitation to the grandparent in the past.

- 1 (4) The mental and physical health of the child.
 2 (5) The mental and physical health of the grandparent.

 - (6) Whether the circumstances and amount of visitation will substantially interfere with the right of the parent to exercise his or her parental authority.
 - (7) Any other relevant factors the court deems necessary in determining the best interest of the child.

There is a rebuttable presumption that visitation by a grandparent is not in the best interest of the child if the child's biological parents agree that the grandparent should not be awarded visitation rights. Procedure, venue, and jurisdiction shall be the same as in an action for custody."

SECTION 3. G.S. 50-13.5(j) reads as rewritten:

"(j) Custody and Visitation Rights of Grandparents. – In any action in which the custody of a minor child has been determined, upon a motion in the cause and a showing of changed circumstances pursuant to G.S. 50-13.7, the grandparents of the child are entitled to such custody or visitation rights as the court, in its discretion, deems appropriate. As used in this subsection, "grandparent" includes a biological grandparent of a child adopted by a stepparent or a relative of the child where a substantial relationship exists between the grandparent and the child. Under no circumstances shall a biological grandparent of a child adopted by adoptive parents, neither of whom is related to the child and where parental rights of both biological parents have been terminated, be entitled to visitation rights."

SECTION 4. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to actions for visitation rights commenced on or after that date.
